

Put your video to work for you

Do you have a series of unique videos? Are you using them to their fullest potential? Take advantage of internet's largest subscription services and let us create a video channel for you.

With the power of iTunes, Adobe Media Player and Miro you are targeting a multi million people audience. These people can become your subscribers!

With subscriptions you get on people's hard drives, into iPhones and iPods. You stay in control you decide what and when is available.

Get started

Getting started is easy. Simply drop your analog video in the mailbox or upload using our form.

We accept all possible file formats and analog video formats, even film reels and broken tapes.

We will create episodes according to your instructions, edit out parts and make mash-ups upon your request.

The power of three networks

Each network has a unique audience and a unique approach for broadcasting video. iTunes is one of the most popular and most used applications on the market. Miro (aka Democracy player) believes in an open mass communication medium - online television. It allows its customers to easily watch anything they want and also to freely express themselves.

Adobe Media Player - new player, new way

The youngest of the three managed to create an enormous buzz with its first release. Adobe is promising to bring some major television networks to make the product even more popular. Adobe Media Player, like all Adobe products, has a very professional look and feel to it. It's a pleasure to use something that not only gets the job done, but also looks great. Still, the most important part is the ability to customize the player, add your custom branding and scriptable components. You can accept donations, show your advertising or images - just beside the playing video!

Start a stream

Let us create and customize your video subscription channel in iTunes, Miro or Adobe Media Player. We accept all digital file formats and most analog tape and film reel formats.

Smart choice

Attract audience to your official channel with your advertising on it - instead of passively watching them going to YouTube with Google's.

Fight piracy and illegal copies by providing the official one. Most people will watch the official version to support the producer - and you can even accept donations or "whatever you wish" payments. Such options are much better than zero you have at the moment.

The variety of cases

Broadcast your learning course with no attention to technical details. Use parts of your commercial video to boost sales of the full versions. Broadcast your archive content and re-actualize it. Create a channel of your city tour videos or move your question and answer session to the new level of clarity with online video.
